

Mating Season

+18

Nikkibunn

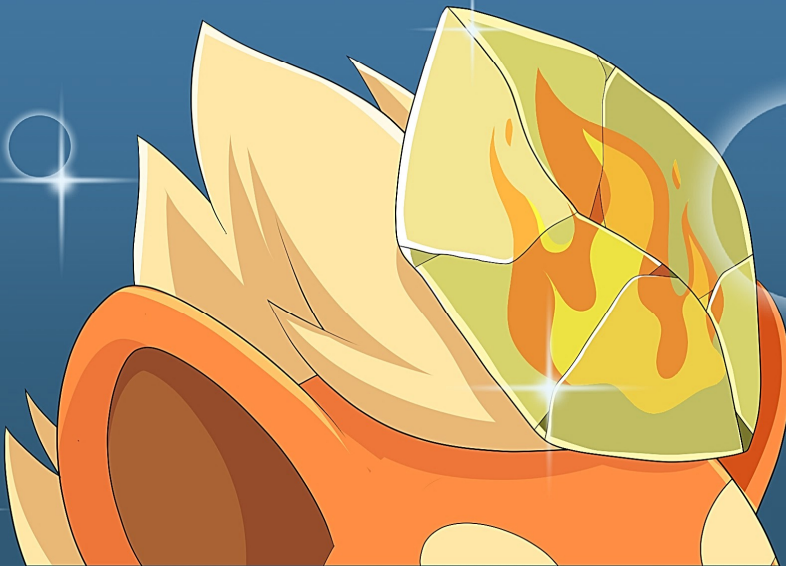

Life used to be great in our pack, we all used to get along and we all were equals. We had no alphas, no betas, no nothing.

This used to make mating season a time where we all fucked all day until the season ended.

Everything was great... until one day, something; or rather someone, changed.

One of the males of our pack, Delta, found a weird stone and evolved.

Along with a new appearance and abilities, he gained another trait which didn't took long for the females to take notice.

Soon after, the females started ravaging Delta and ignoring us other males in the pack.

As a result, Delta became more possessive and aggressive, along with solidifying himself as the Alpha.

Some tried to fight him,
but his size gave him an unfair advantage over us.

We spent a couple seasons trying to defeat him to no avail.

Season after season...

He mated with the
females, claiming them
for himself, and became used to abusing his power over us...

Us males thought this couldn't get any worse...
Heh! things can always get worse.

A bigger, stronger male came to challenge Delta and claim the pack.

Delta tried to fight him,
but honestly...

EYAAAAH!!!

...We all knew Delta didn't
him...

GRRRRR

And so the new alpha brought all the females to the hill where us males weren't allowed to even set a paw on.

This divided the pack in two. The new male and all the females...

...and us.

This caused a lot of tension among the horny, frustrated males.

Many blamed Delta for everything, demanding he fight the other male again and bring back the females.

With the rest of the pack turning their backs on him and demanding he fix the problem he caused, Delta began to feel the pressure bearing down on him.

THIS IS ALL YOUR FAULT!

GRRRR

GET OUT OF HERE!

Pretty soon after that, he left to go after the females.

We haven't seen Delta or the females since then...
And that was a whole year ago.

Nowadays things are...difficult
